ELEPHANT EXPERIENCE

Tswale, the elephant, was rescued from being culled in Limpopo. This programme trains elephants, with the intention of making educational elephant interactions possible. For most people, meeting Tswale is bucket-list worthy. Standing beside him and having his permission to reach out and make physical contact is so many things. You cannot remain unaffected by the experience. Tswale is no longer required to have anyone riding him, and he is under no obligation to perform entertaining activities. He gets to decide what he would like to do and it makes these interactions even more special and memorable.

Meet Tswale : Interactive Elephant Experience

R1000 per person for 1 hour
Minimum of two people per booking

Marloth Park visitors that are looking for an excursion of a different kind, are invited to enjoy a three-hour sundowner or sunrise boat cruise on the Komatie River, while taking in the scenery and sounds of the river as the sun sets or rises.

The Komati River is inhabited by crocodiles and pods of hippo that makes for some exciting but safe game viewing on the boat cruise. Our barge has braai facilities onboard and we will supply the charcoal should you wish to enjoy a meal onboard.

You can sit back and relax with a cruise up the river with a sundowner in hand.

Cooking facilities are included.

What to bring along for the cruise:
Your food and drinks
Cutlery and crockery for your meal
Sunscreen and camera
Something warm should the weather become chilly
