CATERING IDEAS

A wedding harvest table

in South Africa is a beautiful and popular way to showcase a variety of foods, often served as an appetiser or during pre-dinner drinks, and is a visually appealing alternative to traditional canapés. It typically features a selection of cold meats, cheeses, breads, fruits, vegetables, and preserves, designed to be enjoyed at room temperature.

A wedding buffet

can range in style and price, from traditional South African flare to international cuisine. Popular choices include buffets with options like roast meats, seafood, salads, and traditional dishes.

A 3-course sit-down dinner

typically includes an appetiser, a main course, and a dessert, served to guests seated at their tables. This format is a popular and traditional choice for wedding receptions, offering a structured and formal dining experience. Couples often choose from various menu options for each course, sometimes allowing guests to pre-select their main course on the RSVP.

Food trucks

They turn dining into an interactive, relaxed experience that encourages your guests to step outside the usual reception routine. Rather than being served a plated meal, your guests will enjoy walking up to the truck, ordering their food, and potentially trying new dishes they've never had before. This could include, Pizzas, Burgers, Mexican food (think Tacos), Ice cream & pancakes.

Pizza Night

A pizza-themed wedding reception can be a fun and unique alternative to traditional wedding food. It offers a casual, inclusive atmosphere and allows for a variety of pizza styles and toppings to cater to different tastes.
