

TREEHOUSES – LION SANDS GAME RESERVE – FACT SHEET

A MILLION-STAR EXPERIENCE

Romantics, adventurers, and solitude seekers alike can discover the magic of an evening out in Africa – in complete luxury. Delivered by safari vehicle to their chosen hideout, guests spend the sunset hours enjoying a gourmet picnic and spotting the animals that wander past (at a safe distance), before turning in for the night beneath a blanket of stars.

Lion Sands Treehouses have their origins in Chalkley Treehouse, built on the site where our ancestor Guy Aubrey Chalkley made camp in a centuries-old leadwood tree. Since then, they have got a fair bit more luxurious, with Kingston and Tinyeleti added to the collection.

CHALKLEY TREEHOUSE

Located in Lion Sands Sabi Sand, for guests staying at Ivory Lodge and River Lodge

The original hideout. Light only by the soft glow of lanterns and the absence of Wi-Fi create an au-naturel bush experience for two. But added creature comforts mean guests won't be roughing it.

KINGSTON TREEHOUSE

Located in Lion Sands Sabi Sand, for guests staying at Ivory Lodge and River Lodge

Built just beyond an outcrop of boulders, Kingston is a couple or family’s private vantage over the untamed and untainted, its stillness punctuated only by animals’ whistles, huffs, growls... Guests savour this far faraway experience, in complete luxury – with a picnic dinner, feather beds, and full bathing facilities.

TINYELETI TREEHOUSE

Located in Lion Sands Kruger Park, for guests staying at Tinga Lodge and Narina Lodge

Tinyeleti, meaning ‘many stars’, offers big views of a remote landscape, globed by an even bigger sky, its lights twinkling down to the horizon. But couples and families needn’t forgo luxury for an out-of-this-world experience. A gourmet picnic, illuminated by lanterns, and feather beds ensure guests will be quite comfortable.
